

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A packaging tape system includes adhesive tape configured to extend across a face of a box and seal two flaps of the box in a closed position. Indicia is pre-printed on the adhesive tape and indicates a room or location in a house or office from which contents of the box originated. The adhesive tape is typically formed in dispensing rolls, each roll being of a distinctive color so as to be readily visually distinguishable from another roll for indicating another room or location within the house or office.
